TIROLER GOLDSCHMIED

From a One-Man Operation to South Tyrol's Largest Jeweler and International Design Atelier

For over 56 years, TIROLER GOLDSCHMIED has shone like a brilliant star in the jewelry industry. The transformation of this family business from a one-man operation into an internationally acclaimed, multi-award-winning jeweler is one of South Tyrol's most remarkable success stories.

The Beginnings: In 1969, Eusebius Gamper laid the foundation for the business in Merano, which relocated to Tirolo two years later. Together with his wife, Margareth, he continuously expanded the company. Soon, refined one-of-a-kind pieces, crafted with exceptional artistry, became the hallmark of Tiroler Goldschmied.

Today's Product Range: The core of the company revolves around three main areas:

- The exclusive in-house brand LA PREZIOSA, featuring 16 collections.
- A dedicated wedding jewelry collection.
- An exclusive line of traditional alpine and hunting jewelry.

Every piece is designed, crafted, and perfected with utmost precision in the company's own workshop.

Innovation and Exclusivity: In 2010, Tiroler Goldschmied opened Italy's first exclusive wedding jewelry store with VIP service. Here, the wedding collection is showcased in a special, elegant setting.

International Recognition: The creations of the Gamper family enjoy worldwide acclaim. At leading trade fairs in Munich and Bolzano, they regularly attract the attention of industry experts. A milestone was reached in 2010 when their diamond-encrusted falcon hoods garnered significant international attention at the world's largest falconry fair in Abu Dhabi.

Numerous awards underline the exceptional quality and uniqueness of Tiroler Goldschmied's designs:

- In Kobe (Japan), Eusebius and Hannes Gamper triumphed as the only non-Asian participants.
- In Hong Kong, they prevailed over 700 competitors.
- They won in two categories at the prestigious Italian Tahitian Pearl Trophy.
- Thomas Gamper achieved the title of vice-world champion in goldsmithing at the WorldSkills competition in Calgary (Canada) in 2009.
- In 2024, jewelry designer Hannes Gamper won the renowned German Design Award for the golden Inca bracelet from the LA PREZIOSA collection.
- In 2025 we get the 1 TWT Diamond - Top World Treasures powered by Gentleman recognition, we are among the 100 Top Jewelers 2025 in Italy.

Sophisticated Presentation: In its six boutiques in Tirolo, Schenna, Merano and the Quellenhof Luxury Resort, the jewelry is presented in a stylish atmosphere. The product range is complemented by selected watch brands as well as collections from renowned international jewelry designers and emerging talents.

A Family Business Rooted in Tradition and Forward Thinking: One of the key success factors is the company's management as a family business. The passion for exquisite jewelry and innovative design is passed down from generation to generation. All four children and three in-laws contribute their individual expertise as goldsmiths, jewelry designers, gemologists, and diamond graders to the company.

Looking to the Future: The Gamper family's multi-generational team is well-prepared for the years ahead. Creativity, innovation, and contemporary design not only define the artistic creations but also embody the philosophy of Tiroler Goldschmied. The company remains a shining example of the perfect harmony between tradition and modernity.
